

Celebrating St. Thomas Day at St Thomas School, Kuron, South Sudan

In the Catholic church 3rd July is St. Thomas Day, a day of fiest designated to the apostle Thomas: The apostle who did not believe in the resurrection, - until he met with Jesus himself.

Text and photo: Per Nordmark

As the school in Kuron is named after St. Thomas, it is a tradition to celebrate with a full day's program. The program started with mass, and included various performances by the pupils, speeches, sport and CD-music in the evening.

St Thomas School compound in Kuron

The school choir welcomes all participants and guests by dancing and singing welcoming songs

The Nursery school is performing, becoming very popular with the audience.

Guests are served lunch with the teachers and school staff.

The schools theatre group dramatizing the effects of cattle raiding.

Volley ball competition between pupils and staff

The 195 students, 11 teachers and other HTPV staff had an enjoyable day of celebration.